SCOTLAND TO GOOD HOPE

The Ferguson, McGill and Smith Clans, Lowlanders, were branches of the greatest Scot Clan, the McDonald Highlanders. The ancestral castles of the McDonalds were in the Southwest part of the Central Highlands, where the Grampion Mountains lower into foot-hills and end. The ancestral homes of those Lowlanders spread over the Lowlands Southwesterly from those foothills. All four Clans were in Argyllshire in and around Argyll District, some 25 miles Northwest of Greenock on the Clyde, their port. Glasgow was the business, educational and theological center of those Scotch Presbyterians.

In the period of the American Revolution, some Scots,

Fergusons

seeking a better climate than Nova Scotia (New Scotland), emigrated to North Carolina. Among them were: (1) Malcolm and Margaret McDonald Ferguson, parents of John, Margaret and

McGills

Mary; (2) Angus and Annie Fairley McGill, parents of Archibald,

Smiths

Flora and Nancy; (3) John Hector and Smith, parents of John Campbell, Isabelle and Daniel. Those named children all migrated to Mississippi.

The tradition is that the parents of Daniel McDonald, shortly after their marriage, sold everything, but a change whose wife was a McDonald, and Angus McGill came next, and settled South of Fort Bragg in Richmond County. Then John Hector Smith came, and settled Northwest of the Fort in Moore County. Fayetteville was the trading post of them all, and Laurel Hill, Scotland County, was their social and religious center and place of burial.

Mississippi

It is family history that Daniel McDonald led the migration to Mississippi. He made his way to the U. S. Land Office at Augusta on Leaf River, and settled there. He reported back to N. C. that thousands of acres of virgin timber lands in Southeast Mississippi were for sale by the Government at 10 cents per acre, payable when convenient; that the Choctaw Indians were friendly, that the region abounded in wild game, fish, honey, nuts and berries; and that the climate was mild enough for cattle, sheep and hogs to remain all-year on open range, affording them abundant sustenance.

JOHN FERGUSON

In 1811 war was eminent between the U. S. A. and Great Britain, and John Ferguson wanted no part in fighting his ancestral homeland. Also Tecumseh was leading all the Southern Indian tribes, except the Choctaws, in an all out effort to exterminate the whites. And thousands from the Atlantic Seaboard States were treking in ox-drawn covered wagons on the Great Caravan Route, via Savannah, Ga., and St. Stephens, Ala., to the U. S. Land Office at Augusta, in quest of home sites with wide acres.

John Ferguson decided to join the caravans, and settle in a region of comparative seclusion from military service and security from hostile Indians, among the Choctaws in Mississippi Northwest of Mobile, Ala. In 1811, he treked on the Great Caravan Route around the lands of the Creeks and Chickasaws, to Fort Winchester on the Chickasawhay River, two miles West of the present town of Winchester, Miss. There he wintered and remained until after Malcolm was born on his 35th birthday.

ort Winchester

He joined the Philadelphus Presbyterian Church, then located on the West side of Chickasawhay River, some 12 miles above Fort Winchester and one mile Northeast of West King on Yellow Creek. Its membership included the Scotch families, McRaes, McFarlands, et al., for many miles around. He worshiped there about 10 years until Good Hope Presbyterian Church was organized.

iladelphus

In the Summer of 1812,* he treked up Chickasawhay River to Yellow Creek, and up it to the U. S. Post Road (Savannah to Natchez) at Eucutta, and West on it across Big Bogue Homa Swamp and settled by it, on the NW¼ - SW¼, Sec. 5, T. 9 N., R. 10 W., and called his home Good Hope. There he and his wife lived, reared their 11 children, died, and were buried.

Good Hope Church

It was about 1819 that he built a split-log church house by the U. S. Post Road on the South side of the NE¼ - SE¼, Sec.6, T. 9 N.,R. 10 W., (across the road from the present home of A. B. Doggett).

There, about 1822,* Good Hope Presbyterian Church was organized, which soon became a religious and educational center of note, known as Good Hope Camp-Ground. First a large arbor was built in front of the Church, mainly for social purposes. This later was covered with boards and made into a large assembly hall. The split-log church was used as a kitchen, cabins were built all around, and a correl* enclosed on the South side, and a new (plank) church house, of architectural symetry,* with a balcony for the slaves, who were full, equal church members, was erected in the Northwest corner of a 5 acre parcel in the Southeast corner of the Forty. Services and school were held the last week of every month, but August, which was Camp Meeting month; when people came from far and near, and many marriages were solemnized.

The multiple end

With the growth of churches along the N. O. & N.E. R. R.* from 1882 to 1887, Good Hope Church gradually dissolved, nurturing and sending members to the Errata, Red Hill, McFarland, Pisgah, New Liberty, Heidelberg, and Sandersville Churches.

This sketch, hardly a brochure, is of the life of a first citizen, whose influence for good will never ended and whose descendants, maybe a thousand, are warp and woof of the Laurel trade territory today.

McDONALDS

Daniel McDonald moved from Augusta up Leaf River to Leaf for several years, and then to the Good Hope Community, and settled 2½ miles, a little South of East, from the church, on the E½ of NE¼ of Sec. 10, T. 9 N., R. 10 W. (last known as the Obe Trest home). From there he moved about 7 miles Northeasterly to the prairie land Southeast of Heidelberg, where he died and was buried in the graveyard 1/4 mile Southwest of Heidelberg. His 2nd wife was a Heidelberg. One of 7 children was Frank M. McDonald, whose home was where Nellie Freeman Aaron now lives, 3/8 of a mile South of the Southland Refinery. L. B. McDonald, Sandersville, Miss., is the youngest of Frank's 23 children - 20 reared to maturity.

McGILLS

Archibald McGill's wife, Mary Ferguson, died in N. C. in 1820. In 1832, he, with his 5 children and his sister, Nancy, came to Mississippi, and settled on the presnet site of the Southland Refinery - Lot 4, Sec. 21, T. 10 N., R. 10 W., where he lived until death in 1859. He was Probate Judge of Jones County in 1835.

His children were: (1(James - home 1/2 mile Northwest of his father's, against the Jones-Jasper County line; (2) Anna - M.* Malcom Ferguson; (3) Angus - died in childhood; (4) Neill F. - M.* Elizabeth Ferguson; (5) Sarah - M.* Jim Thomas, Sr., Luther McGill, Laurel, Miss., is Archibald(s great grandson.

The tradition is that many of the McGills in Scotland were 6½ to 7 feet tall men, powerful and hardy.

SMITHS

In the late 1820's, six of John Hector Smith's children came to Mississippi from near Cameron, Moore County, N. C. His first child, John Campbell, and his youngest, Daniel, settled in the present Errata Community. Another, Duncan, settled at Okabiah (Oak Bowery), Jasper County; and Malcolm settled on Yellow Creek, near West King, Wayne County. One daughter, Isabelle, an old maid, lived with her brother John Campbell. Another daughter, Margaret

It is family history that John Campbell objected strongly to his spoiled, tough baby brother coming with them. They married sisters, Margaret and Annie Ferguson, and both reared large families, very different, but outstanding alike in their respective spheres. Both families made splendid contributions to the Confederate Army, in men, food, clothing and supplies. Colton Smith (Miss. Power Co., Laurel) and Glenn Smith, Errata, are John Calvin's great-grandsons. Singleton Smith, Sandersville, is Daniel's grandson.

An unrecorded saga of the war is the part in it of Daniel's family. The 4 oldest sons enlisted - one was killed in battle, one died of yellow fever in a Florida camp, and the other two were wounded in battle, disabling them for life, and both finally died from the wounds. Daniel, his wife, daughter and two youngest sons at home made clothing, shoes and hats from their own produced and processed cotton, wool, leather and felt, and prepared bacon, hams, dried beef, lard and cheese of their own livestock, which was all freely given to the Confederate Army.

Flora asked her brother, Angus, to buy her a pair (boy and girl) of slaves. He bought 2 boys and 2 girls, all aged 16 at the slave blocks (still standing) in Mobile, who had been sold on the slave blocks (still standing) in Fayetteville, N. C. She named her pair Billy and Margaret Ferguson, and Angus named his pair Henry and Catharine Ferguson. They were married, so paired, in G. H. Church and enrolled as members.

After the surrender (1865), they re-paired to their own liking - Billy and Catharine, and Henry and Martha. Billy and Catharine stayed with the old maids over 20 years more, rearing a large family, when he moved to Poplarville, Miss. Henry and Martha became large land owners and cotton farmers 1 mile S. of Errata on the N. side of Mt. Olive Church. Many of their descendants live around Mt. Olive now. Their youngest son, Hamp Ferguson, is regarded as one of Jones County's best citizens.

John lived with his mother and o.m. sister until his mother told him in 1855 to get a home of his own. He built a split-log dwelling on the NW¼ - SE¼, 4-9-10, homesteading 160 acres and buying adjoining land. There he kept "batch" until his marriage, when he brought his Irish bride from across Reedy Creek to his home. There all 12 of their 12 Scotch-Irish children were born and reared, there the parents died.

Catharine was the daughter of Robert P. and Elizabeth McScrews Boyce. He owned the land along Reedy Creek between the Ferguson and Smith lands. His home was where Wyatt Caraway now has pecan trees, opposite his automobile wrecking shop, on U. S. No. 11. An Irishman, Mason and Baptist, he was a noted cabinet maker and water-mill millwright. He built the water-mill on Tallahala Creek 1½ mi. SW of Errata (mill race present "swimming hole" W. of Hawkes), where he sawed the limber for the G. H. Church building.

John was an expert broadaxman, and built most of the dwellings, barns and outhouses around G. H. during his manhood. He was known and "Broadax John".

She was the 2nd child of Jesse E. and Eliza Carter. He was a brother of Lazarus Carter, father of my mother's mother, so that Mary was a 1st cousin of my grandmother. Mary lived all her life at her parents home (Sec. 8, T. 10 N., R. 8 W.), dying there in 1891 (before her mother died there), divorced about 20 years. She had one child, Homer Hinckle Bailey, who died about 2 years old. He, she and her mother were buried in the Robinson Graveyard, near-by in Wayne County. I knew Mary and her mother 1887 to 1891.

"J. W. BAILEY"

Mrs. Jane Williams Lindsey Wingate and Dr. Warner Julian Bailey were married Christmas Day, 1872, at the home of her father, Dr. Caleb Lindsey, near Pass Christian, Miss., who had moved there from Claiborne, Miss., where he lived by his brother, Samuel Lindsey, father of John Lindsey, inventor, and Dr. S. W. Lindsey, banker, Laurel, Miss.

Lee Lindsey, grandson of Dr. Caleb Lindsey, told me that Jane was the daughter of his grandfather's 1st wife, Polly Brown, who died in the child birth of Jane; and that his grandfather later married Miss Almyra Mason, of Georgia, and they reared 7 children [illegible] to maturity - the 3rd, Benjamin Franklin Lindsey, reared 14 children at Pass Christian, and the 6th, his father, James Terral Lindsey, reared 11 children.

they had one child, Lelia Jane Wingate, born in March, 1862, and he died in October, 1862. She had been a widow over 10 years, when she married Dr. Bailey at the home of her father, near Pass Christian, Christmas Day, 1872. She and Dr. Bailey lived at Claiborne 11 years, and then at Sandersville, Miss., where she died October 17, 1887. The widow Wingate owned considerable property, trading, after her marriage to Dr. Bailey, as "J. W. Bailey".

From the Fall of 1883, when Dr. Bailey was building their home in Sandersville, (where Dr. W. D. Copeland now lives) until December, 1886, she bought land on the South side of Sandersville, including the S½ - SW¼ 5-9-10, and the land now the home place of Mrs. Mary (Mollie) Thornton. She gave the latter in December, 1886, (I was living in Sandersville then) to her daughter, Lelia, who had married George A. Thornton. They built the dwelling where "Miss Mollie" now lives. Lelia died there in 1891, and Mr. Thornton later married Miss Mary (Mollie) E. Fairchild, of Covington Co., Miss., Mr. Thornton died there in 1903. Lelia and Mr. Thornton both died intestate and childless.

Dr. J. W. and Jane Wingate Bailey had 2 children, born at Claiborne - Irene died nearly 10 years old and Mary, died in infancy, they told me. Mrs. Bailey (I called her cousin Janie) died at home in Sandersville in October, 1887, and was buried by her 1st husband, Bonner became President, J. E. Parker, Vice-President, and John Watts, Secretary. (Book 5, p. 567, Office Secretary of State, Jackson, Miss.) The Company bought Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6, Block 2, Sandersville, from Dr. Bailey (who owned the whole Block, with his dwelling and office on Lots 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9, and built a store on them (now the Howard Filling Station and home site). The three conducted the business together until my father sold his stock to Mr. Parker and Mr. Watts in 1898, built the brick store (now the theatre in Sandersville) and opened a new mercantile business, Bonner Brothers.

Not being old enough to enter college the Fall of 1893, I was employed as a clerk by the Sandersville Mercantile - Wyatt Bufkin and A. T. J. Wallace the other two clerks and Mr. Watts book-keeper and office manager. I worked on that job until my mother was stricken with Rheumatic fever in March 1894.

Near the end of 1893 (I think before his 4th marriage), he sold the SW¼ SW¼, 5-9-10, to Roland Smith, a negro merchant in Sandersville, (store where Armstead Hardee has one now). The Sandersville Mercantile Company loaned all the purchase price to Roland, and he xxxx turned over the deed to the Company as security till he paid, and Mr. Watts put the deed in the Company safe, not having it recorded - all this common practice then. Roland did not pay it out for seven years, during which time he farmed the workable part of the land, when the matter was closed by his deed of the land to the Company. The Company quickly sold it to W. H. Reon, Sandersville merchant and turpentine still operator, who farmed it about 10 years, till his death; his son "Ernie" doing the work - W. E. Reon, now living in Sandersville.

The cultivatable part of the Forty has been in cultivation continuously since 1812, by the successive owners, I believe, and under fence with other land.

Can anyone help in the search for the parents and siblings of Samuel Ferguson-born1778 in S.C.-(Where)-He married Mary (Polly) Ann Rhymes who was born1779 in N.C.(where?)
Thank You for any information

Dear Mrs Bryant,

Many, many thanks for your call of a few minutes ago. I'm sorry that I.D. had difficulty understanding you, but I do have a hearing problem and with that and a loud TV going it was very difficult to understand.

Now, about the note I mailed to you a day or two ago. Please excuse my being anxious about this matter. You see I've been searching for this information since 1978 so it would be really something for me to find it after 15 years of searching.

Now, for the information I'm looking for & I'm searching for the parents and siblings of my G.G. grand father, Samuel Fergeuson. He was b. in 1778 in S.C. (I don't know where in S.C.) He married (I don't know where or when) Mary Ann "Polly" Rhymes who was born in 1779 in N.C. (Again, I do know where in N.C.) They lived on Shoulderbone Creek in Greene Co. Georgia, about 1801–1818, then in Jasper Co. GA 1810–1818, then in Pike Co. Miss. 1818–1824 then in Hinds and Copiah Co. Miss 1824–1835, then in Newton Co. Miss. 1835–1850+ where he was the first Probate Judge in Newton Co. He returned to Copeah Co. Miss. and was in the home of his son, Jesse M. Ferguson, for the 1860 Census. Their children were Joseph A. b. 1803, Abraham, b. 1805, James L. b. 1806. (my g.grandfather), Martha who d. very young, Jesse M. b. 13 Oct. 1810, Nancy b. 1812, Faithy b. 1815, John L. "Jack" b. 1816-1817, Elizabeth "Betsy" b. 1818 and Mary Jane "Polly" b. 1823. All children except the last one were b. in Georgia.

Jesse Farrar Rymer may have been my Samuel's father-in-law.

There was a Joseph Ferguson, Thomas Ferguson, Henry Ferguson, William and Jacob Ferguson also in Greene Co. Ga along with my Samuel. I do not know his relationship, if any, with these other Fergusons. This Joseph Ferguson, along with my Samuel appears in the will of Jesse Jarod R Rymer of Jones Co. Ga in 1854-1856.

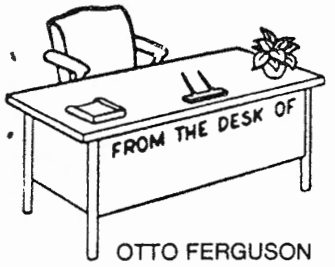

My Samuel was not the son of Samuel Ferguson and Isabella Barber. Their son, Samuel Jr remained in Chester Co. S.C. until 1847 and ended up in Carroll Co. Miss. Also, he was not the ~~Samuel~~ Samuel, son of Richard Ferguson of Laurens Co. S.C.

For many reasons I believe he was a grandson of James and Agnes Ferguson of Chester Co. S.C., but I do not know through which of their sons; but maybe William or Joseph.

Call if you want more information.

Best Wishing for a successful fall buying season of Antiques.

Sincerely, Mrs Otto Ferguson

Dear Mrs Bryant,

Don't keep me in suspense so long. The enclosed will help pay some copying and mailing expense.

Of course I do hope you have the information I need regarding my g.g. grandfather's parents and siblings.

Anxiously anticipating receiving the information from you.

Sincerely,
Wm Otto Ferguson

P.S. Oh yes, if you do have the desired information you will receive the promised reward.

Thank again,
WOF

Couple repeats vows for 60th anniversary

HELENA — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dixon Ferguson were honored Feb. 24 on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary at First Baptist Church of Helena.

Mr. Ferguson took Janie Belle Webster as his bride on Feb. 21, 1931, in Ambrose, Ga.

The couple renewed wedding vows officiated by the Rev. Gerald Hegwood. During the candlelight ceremony, Mr. Ferguson presented his bride with an anniversary ring.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall. The hall was decorated in the colors of mauve and burgundy highlighted in the tableclothes on the tables and flowers. One table contained the wedding cake and a fountain flowing below it, surrounded by ivy and mauve flowers. Crystal candles held mauve candles accented with mauve candlerings. Another table included homemade punch, sandwiches, cookies, candies and nuts.

Attending the event were the couple's children, Jr. Ferguson of Escatawpa; Mack Ferguson of Columbia, S.C.; Fay Gore of Helena; and Jane Willey of Gautier.

Mrs. Ferguson wore a fuchia colored two-piece suit and an orchid corsage.

Mr. Ferguson wore a gray pinstrip suit.

Special piano music was performed by Trijetta Cropp and soloist was Faith Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dixon Ferguson

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ferguson of Columbia, S.C., a son; and Mrs. Terry Baker and Mandi, of Hartselle, Ala., granddaughter and her daughter.

Cindy Ferguson

Cindy Ferguson has been working at the University of Mississippi Gulf Coast Research Laboratory for 19 years. Ferguson has early memories of riding her bike down the streets of her neighborhood pretending to deliver the mail. Now she sorts and delivers thousands of pieces of mail weekly as well as handling supply room duties at GCRL. She said she takes great pride in making sure mail gets to the right people. Ferguson said that people at the research lab are like family and that GCRL is like a second home to her. Her husband of 26 years also works at the research lab. The Vancleave resident has one child and two grandchildren. She said she loves working in her garden when she is not spending time with her grandchildren.

Robert

Robert Travis Ferguson, son of Robert Guy and Brenda Kaye Ferguson of Derby, Kan., is celebrating his first birthday today. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guy Ferguson Sr. of Bettendorf, Iowa, and Mrs. Nettie Broadus of Pascagoula.
